"Travel is an excellent complement to a college education. It allows you to expand your horizons as you reflect on your experiences at home and compare them to life and experiences gained through living and interacting with other cultures. I had always wanted to explore and travel to a foreign country; International Programs allowed me to do this. My trips to France (2001) and Brazil have been awesome experiences that have helped me think about my future with a fresh and enlightened view. Now I can really understand what it’s like to deal and interact with people from different cultures and this will prove to be very helpful in my career." Pablo Orozco
